The flowers on the Main Altar, this weekend are in loving memory of Lena DeBorde and are given by Patsy and Paul DeBorde.

The Tabernacle Candle, April 11- 24, is in loving memory of Daniel Barnum and is given by his grandmother, Mary Sue Barnum.

Our priests are being called into great heroic action by offering the sacraments, finding creative ways to serve parishioners, and maintaining less than full churches with limited staff support during a pandemic. In response, Houston-based Vocation Ministry is launching its annual "Uplift Your Priest" international campaign from April 12-23, which is designed to inspire the laity to support and encourage their priests. We need to let our clergy know that their people recognize their daily sacrifices.

- Here are some ideas to inspire you and your family to support your priest!
- Write a letter thanking him for his sacrifices
  - Send him drawings or paintings by children
  - Pray, fast, and offer sacrifices for him
  - Make a family video message/song of affirmation for him
  - Have a Mass intention said for him

MUSICAM SACRAM

What is Sacred Music? #2 of 4

In last week's article we discussed the definition of Sacred Music. The article concluded by asking you to think about the moment you entered into a sacred space caused you to immediately feel the presence of Christ. In my own experience, I can recall the first moment I walked into the Cathedral of Christ the Savior in Moscow, Russia. When I was doing my undergraduate degree, I had the opportunity to study in Moscow. The first time I walked into this beautiful Cathedral in which the Divine Liturgy was being celebrated is still a memory I recall often. The deacon, priests and bishop were all at the altar singing the chants of the Russian Orthodox Liturgy. The choir, in the balcony, not visible to the worshiping body responded with beautiful polyphony in dialogue with the celebrant. My Russian friends immediately stopped, made the sign of the cross, and maintained a high level of reverence. The sanctity of the iconography, sacred art, architecture, liturgical furniture, and sacred music immediately commanded the reverence and respect worthy of divine worship. Have you had a similar experience?

On September 29th, 2019, Pope Francis addressed the St. Cecilia Association, the 140-year-old sacred music association of the Catholic Church in Italy. In his address, Pope Francis reminded them that Pope Paul VI "wanted you to be renewed and active for a music that is integrated with the liturgy and draws its fundamental characteristics from it. Not just any music, but a holy music, because the rites are holy; adorned with nobility of art, because for God we must give the best; universal, so that everyone can understand and celebrate." Pope Francis goes on to say that the music of the church "should be well distinct and different from the music used for other purposes." Pope Francis in this speech again is reminding sacred music professionals of Italy that the music of the church is distinct, its music sounds Holy and must be easily distinguished as music that is created from liturgy and not secular cultural preferences. More next week. St. Joseph... Pray for us!

David J. Cochrane, Director of Music

FROM THE ORGAN BENCH

We found our "Miss Jackson" #2 of 3

After completing church music and organ performance undergraduate studies at Columbia College in the early 1970s, Miss Margaret Jackson, who would become organist and choir director of St. Joseph in 1975, was accepted for graduate studies in organ performance at Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey, and University of South Carolina Columbia. Margaret decided to attend USC. It was at USC that Margaret met our former organist and choir director, Janet Marks.

Margaret recalls being recruited by Father Timothy Watters, parochial vicar of St. Joseph, to sub for weddings and Sunday Masses while attending USC. Madame Tremblay-Baker was still the organist and choir director. Margaret played the Sunday 9 AM and Sunday noon Masses. Madame Tremblay Baker played the 10:30 AM Mass and directed the choir. At this time, Father Alfred F. Kamler, who had served as pastor since 1946, was pastor of St. Joseph Church.

Upon Madame Tremblay Baker's retirement in 1975, Fr. Watters offered a permanent organist and choir director position to Margaret. Margaret started work at St. Joseph in July 1975. About the same time, Father Creston J. Tawes arrived as pastor of St. Joseph Church. Margaret was 22 years old at the time.

To be continued... Brad Cunningham, Organist

Growing in Hopefulness

Hopefulness is active; it asks us to keep affirming to all by our live; that it is possible to effect positive changes in our world. We can change stagnant ponds into bubbling springs of new life.

We can do this because we are the committed disciples of the Lord Jesus who said, "Behold, I am Making all things new!"

ROMAN CATHOLIC
OF CHARLESTON

901 ORANGE GROVE ROAD • CHARLESTON, SC 29407 • 843-261-0420

A coalition of religious schools and independent colleges have filed a federal lawsuit to strike the notorious post-Civil War "Blaine Amendment" from South Carolina's state constitution. The provision has long perpetuated discrimination against African Americans and Catholics by unfairly withholding education funding for independent schools in the state.

The lawsuit was filed by Bishop of Charleston, a Corporation Sole, dba Roman Catholic Diocese of Charleston, on behalf of its 33 K-12 schools throughout the State of South Carolina. South Carolina Independent Colleges and Universities, a nonprofit organization that represents 20 of the state's independent universities and colleges, is also a plaintiff in the lawsuit. The lawsuit was brought by attorneys at the Liberty Justice Center, a national public interest law firm that fights for constitutional rights and educational opportunity.

"This lawsuit seeks to achieve something that every American can stand behind: We're fighting to strike down a century-old law that was enacted with the purpose of discriminating against our fellow citizens," said Daniel Suhr, senior attorney for the Liberty Justice Center. "The U.S. Constitution promises all of us equal treatment and protection under the law - regardless of our race, religion or creed. More than 100 years ago, when the South Carolina Constitution was enacted, a provision was enacted that is still being used to foster discrimination against religious and independent schools in the state. It is time for us to stand up and eradicate this bigotry so it cannot be used to deny educational resources to students in South Carolina."

The Blaine Amendment blocks independent and religious students, families and schools from receiving any public funding. It has been used by the South Carolina Education Association and its allies to deny these students and schools access to federal COVID relief funds. The lawsuit filed today seeks to end this discrimination against non-public schools and students. Attorneys have asked the court for a prompt order that would bar state officials from using the Blaine Amendment to block COVID funds from going to non-public schools.

Added the Most Rev. Robert E. Guglielmone, Bishop of Charleston: "This appeal to our state's courts is not only to, at long last, expunge the anti-Catholic and racist sentiment that still haunts our past. It is about creating a more inclusive, uplifting future for parents and children who seek an education that best fits their values and needs of their students. Many families have been significantly hurt by the COVID pandemic and they should not be denied financial assistance based on where they desire to send their children to school."

The South Carolina Independent Colleges and Universities' membership includes five Historically Black Colleges and Universities. "This lawsuit seeks educational equality for all," said Dr. Jeff Perez, president and CEO of SCICU. "Our students are committed to completing their degrees in a significantly challenging time. We should be doing all we can to support them, not relying on outdated, divisive language evoking a dark period in our history to deny those seeking educational opportunity."

The Blaine Amendment is named after its national champion, James G. Blaine, a U.S. congressman from Maine. Though it never achieved enough votes to be adopted into the U.S. Constitution, South Carolina added the provision to its 1895 constitution in order to suppress the education of newly freed slaves and to enable discrimination against Catholic immigrants. The Blaine Amendment is, according to the lawsuit, "born of bigotry and prejudice, based on race and religion."

Bishop of Charleston, a Corporation Sole, dba Diocese of Charleston v. Adams was filed April 14, 2021, in the U.S. District Court for the District of South Carolina, Columbia Division. Case filings are available here: <https://libertyjusticecenter.org/media/sc-school-discrimination>

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Vacation Bible School has always been a beloved summer program offered to our parishioners and their guests. While at VBS, children encounter stories from the Bible, meet new children, have a good time with friends, and experience new and fun activities. They learn Bible verses, act out Bible stories, sing fun educational songs, watch and participate in skits, create crafts, participate in recreation, take part in hands-on mission projects, discover science activities, and have a snack or a meal.

With the limitations of COVID-19, we are exploring options to continue this tradition in a safe manner. We are looking for families interested in spearheading this effort and/or volunteering. Options may include a "at home version" for summer of 2021 and/or preparation for a traditional VBS experience for summer of 2022. If this is a ministry that interests you please contact Adrienne Carroll at adrienne@stjosephcolumbia.org or call our church office at 803.254.7646.
